

The Dept. of Asian Languages & Literature and the South Asia Center

invite you to attend and participate in a
Brown Bag Lunch Discussion on

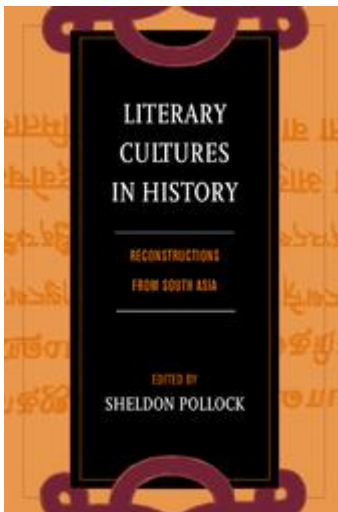

Sheldon Pollock's
Literary Cultures in History

Friday, March 3 2006

11:30 - 1:00 pm

Gowen Hall M218

(Asian L&L Student Lounge, 2nd floor mezzanine level)

This will be an informal discussion among South Asia faculty and students. The focus is on the collection of essays edited by Sheldon Pollock in Literary Cultures in History: Reconstructions from South Asia. The scope of this collection is quite broad, with essays on the literature and literary cultures in Sanskrit, Persian, "Indian-English," Tamil, Kannada, Telugu, Malayalam, Bengali, Gujarati, Sindhi, Pali, Tibetan, Sinhala, Urdu & Hindi. The present discussion will be structured around a reading of Pollock's Introduction to this collection.

Hope you can join us!

The reading is available online at:
